Christopher (Chris) Hasse, PhD, MBA, FACHE, FACMPE is chief administrative officer (CAO) of the Mayo Clinic Health System (MCHS). As CAO, Chris partners closely with the MCHS President to lead 17,000 employees serving 16 community hospitals and 53 multispecialty clinics throughout Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Iowa. He is also an Assistant Professor of Health Care Administration and Health Care Systems Engineering at Mayo Clinic College of Medicine and Science. Chris serves on several boards, including the Vizient Upper Midwest CEO Board and the American Hospital Association Regional Policy Board (Region 6).

Chris previously served in various leadership roles across Mayo Clinic, including enterprise Chair of Advanced Care at Home & Practice Strategy and Associate Administrator supporting the Clinical Practice Committee (CPC), hospital operations, surgical/procedural practices, and ancillary services at Mayo Clinic in Florida. Prior to joining Mayo Clinic, Chris worked for Truman Medical Centers (now University Health) in Kansas City, Missouri. A Minnesota native, Chris' healthcare administration career started in his hometown at Immanuel St. Joseph's Hospital, now known as Mayo Clinic Health System in Mankato.

Chris received his bachelor's and master's (MBA) degrees from the Helzberg School of Management at Rockhurst University (Kansas City, MO). He earned his doctorate degree (PhD) at Florida Atlantic University (Boca Raton, FL) and completed a graduate certificate in public health (CFPH) from the University of Michigan. Chris has served as an adjunct professor at the University of North Florida (Jacksonville, FL) and is a certified six sigma black belt (CSSBB) through the American Society for Quality. He holds fellowship status and board certifications within the American College of Healthcare Executives (FACHE) and the American College of Medical Practice Executives (FACMPE) through the Medical Group Management Association.

Chris and his wife, Katie, have three children and live in the Greater La Crosse Community (Wisconsin).
